What is LAS Honors?

The mission of the James Scholar Program within the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences is to empower our students to be global citizens and global stewards; to enlighten them with deeper understanding of the diverse world in which they live; and to engage with the core values and responsibilities of moving toward a sustainable future.

We strive to assist our students in defining their role as active learners, critical thinkers, and influential leaders. The LAS James Scholar Program provides the best of the liberal arts education tradition with the resources, facilities, and opportunities of a flagship state university. From studying abroad to working one-on-one with faculty members, LAS Honors provides and supports ways for our students to do more, go farther, and become their very best.

Benefits of the LAS James Scholar Program include:

- Priority registration
- LAS 122, a special course designed for incoming LAS Honors students taught by upper-class James Scholars
- Qualify to apply to live in the Honors LLC
- Unique courses and sections reserved for LAS honors students
- Opportunity to apply for the James Scholar Preble Research Scholarship
- LAS Honors study abroad and experiential learning courses
- Opportunity to graduate with Honors
- Belonging to the LAS Honors community (we're great)

Responsibilities of belonging to the LAS James Scholar program include:

- Maintain a 3.3 GPA
- Adhere to academic integrity standards in the Student Code of Conduct
- Full time enrollment unless otherwise approved by the College of LAS
- Maintain your portfolio (earn 4 points per year)
- Engage in both academic and enrichment experiences

Empower, enlighten, engage

The LAS James Scholar program focuses on academics and enrichment as its two central pillars. To be an Honors student does not mean that you are doing more work. It means that you are working differently – you’re going deeper, making connections between subject areas, engaging in more complex thinking, and connecting it with the world around you. Your academic coursework, which you will undertake in Honors courses with other James Scholars, will enlighten you through complex, deep-level thinking in smaller sections of students who share your intellectual curiosity and who are eager, like you, to learn how to solve problems and encounter new areas of knowledge. It is not just about taking tests and writing papers: it’s about hands-on work, exploring through discussion, and challenging yourself. Because we realize that you learn and prepare yourself for your professional future in all sorts of contexts, we also award academic points for individual honors projects and theses, doing research in labs, completing presentations at conferences, publishing, and for engaging in an array of other activities.

As an LAS James Scholar, we also ask you to pursue enrichment activities because we learn from each other as much as we learn from classes. We ask you to engage with the world around you on campus and in the community because we know that you will develop some of your most important skills and identities outside the traditional classroom. This is why we recognize such high-impact activities as study abroad, internships, leadership in a Registered Student Organization, community service, ROTC, and numerous other forms of leadership. Through this involvement, we forge connections with one another and find our voices within it. The LAS Honors program recognizes the value of those pursuits in empowering the whole person.

To be a James Scholar means that you are an academic achiever, but more importantly, it means that you are an inquisitive and engaged person. Our Honors program supports you as you deepen your knowledge, skills, and passions and as you seek out opportunities for growth and enrichment. You will do so as part of our Honors community – a group of similarly talented and dedicated students. We are here to support you as you design your path to a career and your vision of a fulfilling and engaging life.

Allison Holden is the Director of LAS Honors. She has a Master’s Degree in Educational Leadership. Her favorite part of Honors is one-on-one advising, because she gets to meet the amazing students in this program and working with our student leaders. She spends her free time planning her next travel destination, listening to podcasts, drinking coffee and/or playing at home with her family (preferably in the backyard).

David Mizell is the Assistant Director of LAS Honors. He is an Illinois alum and has a Master’s Degree in Political Science. His favorite part of Honors is getting to work with all of you in advising, as an instructor, and excellent community-building programs such as the James Scholar Student Advisory Board and our peer mentor program. He spends his free time getting together with family and friends and attending sporting events (Go Illini!).

Allison Faust-Branson is the Office Administrator of LAS Honors. Her favorite part of Honors is y’all – the students and the team. She spends her free time with her family or walking around with a camera in her hand.

James Scholar program requirements

Full-time Students

Students must be full-time (12 credit hours per semester) to retain eligibility in the James Scholar Program. One underload (semester below 12 hours) is allowed if approved by the College of LAS.

GPA Requirement

Students must have a cumulative University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign GPA of 3.30 at the end of every academic year to meet the GPA requirement of the James Scholar Program in LAS. At the completion of their first semester at Illinois, first-year LAS James Scholars who earn below a 3.30 GPA will be added to a trial term for the spring to raise their GPA.

Academic Integrity

James Scholars and nominees are held responsible for adherence to the rules for Academic Integrity at Illinois (Code of Policies and Regulations Applying to all Students, Article 1, Part 4). Students who are found to have been penalized within the scope of Article 1, Part 4 will automatically forfeit their LAS James Scholar membership and privileges.

Honors Points

Students must earn honors points each year they are an LAS James Scholar. Additional details about the honors point system are provided in the following pages.

The points system

James Scholars must earn at least 4 points for each academic year they are an LAS James Scholar. The number of years you are an LAS James Scholar before graduation will determine the number of honors points you need to earn overall, as well as how many should be academic (A) points and enrichment (E) points. The academic versus enrichment point breakdown is only a factor the semester you graduate.

Annual James Scholar certification is completed at the end of spring semester each academic year. To retain their standing as a James Scholar, students must follow the requirements listed previously and meet the required 4-point benchmark for their year.

- ☐ End of first year as LAS James Scholar: 4 points
- ☐ End of second year as LAS James Scholar: 8 points
- ☐ End of third year as LAS James Scholar: 12 points
- ☐ End of fourth year as LAS James Scholar: 16 points

There is no specific academic or enrichment point requirement for the annual certification.

For James Scholar Graduation Honors

As indicated above, the number of years you are an LAS James Scholar before graduation will determine the number of honors points you need to earn overall, as well as how many should be academic (A) points and enrichment (E) points.

By the term you graduate, you need the following for James Scholar Graduation Honors:

- 4 years as LAS James Scholar: 16 honors points – 10 academic and 6 enrichment
- ☐ 3.5 years as LAS James Scholar: 14 honors points - 9 academic and 5 enrichment
- 3 years as LAS James Scholar: 12 honors points – 8 academic and 4 enrichment
- ☐ 2.5 years as LAS James Scholar: 10 honors points - consult LAS Honors staff
- 2 years as LAS James Scholar: 8 honors points – 5 academic and 3 enrichment
- 1.5 years as LAS James Scholar: 6 honors points – 4 academic and 2 enrichment
- 1 year as LAS James Scholar: 4 honors points – 3 academic and 1 enrichment

The specific academic and enrichment point requirements are not required until the term you graduate (It's important to note only students who ICT into LAS can earn James Scholar Graduation Honors with less than two years in the program). James Scholars should schedule a James Scholar Graduation Review with LAS Honors staff during their senior year to review remaining requirements. With these milestones in mind, students should be able to be proactive and plan ahead.

Summer Experiences

Summer experiences are eligible for honors points in limited categories (see pages 13-27 for details). Summer experiences will only count toward point requirements for the academic year following the summer in which the experience was completed (they cannot be used for certification consideration at the conclusion of the spring semester just prior to the summer experience).

How to plan ahead

Using this points system, you can be proactive. You can “bank” points, but you cannot borrow them. This means that if you earn points early in your college career, you can save them to complete the point requirements you must reach later in your college career.

EXAMPLE:

Barghav earned 6 honors points during his freshman year as a James Scholar.

Year in LAS Honors	Honors points required	Points earned this year	Total points earned
Year 1	4	6	6

Barghav then earned 2 honors points during his sophomore year as a James Scholar.

Year in LAS Honors	Honors points required	Points earned this year	Total points earned
Year 1	4	6	6
Year 2	8	2	8

However, you cannot borrow. If you fail to earn the necessary points in any particular year to stay on track with 4 honors points required per year, you may be at risk of being dropped from the honors program.

EXAMPLE:

Faith earned 4 honors points during her freshman year as a James Scholar.

Year in LAS	Honors	Points	Total

Honors	points required	earned this year	points earned
Year 1	4	4	4

Faith then earned just 2 honors points during her sophomore year as a James Scholar and planned to earn 6 honors points during her junior year. But because she did not reach the required points by the end of her sophomore year, she was not certified as a James Scholar.

Year in LAS Honors	Honors points required	Points earned this year	Total points earned
Year 1	4	4	4
Year 2	8	2	6

To earn your required points and remain a James Scholar, you will submit a “James Scholar Plan” to the online portfolio system every semester. This James Scholar Plan details everything you intend to do for honors points each semester. However, you are not required to earn honors points every semester. You are simply required to earn the specified number of points by the end of each year. Banking points allows you to not earn points in a semester, and still maintain your status.

EXAMPLE:

Toni was eager to earn all her required honors points during first semester of her freshman year, and so she decided not to submit a James Scholar Plan for her second semester. When she reached fall semester of her senior year, she was too busy applying for graduate school, and decided not to submit a James Scholar Plan until spring semester as she knew she could earn the rest of her required points in time to graduate.

Year in LAS Honors	Honors points required	Fall semester	Spring semester	Total points earned
Year 1	4	5	0	5	✓

Year 2	8	1	2	8	✓
Year 3	12	2	3	13	✓
Year 4	16	0	3	16	✓

EXAMPLE:

Jared kept up with submitting his James Scholar Plans each semester until he studied abroad his junior year and forgot the fall deadline. Luckily, he had banked enough points to keep him in good standing. But when he forgot to submit a James Scholar Plan for fall semester of his senior year, he was thrown off-track and lost James Scholar status.

Year in LAS Honors	Honors points required	Fall semester	Spring semester	Total points earned
Year 1	4	3	1	4
Year 2	8	3	3	10
Year 3	12	0	2	12
Year 4	16	0	1	13

EXAMPLE:

Cassandra self-nominated as a James Scholar after her first year at the University of Illinois and plans to graduate after only three years in the James Scholar program. She banked a lot of points during her second year in the program, so she didn't need to submit her James Scholar Plan during spring of her senior year.

Year in LAS Honors	Honors points required	Fall semester	Spring semester	Total points earned
Year 1	4	1	3	4
Year 2	8	3	5	12
Year 3	12	2	0	14

EXAMPLE:

Seojun transferred to the University of Illinois from another university, so he entered the James Scholar program his sophomore year. Because he only had three years as a James Scholar before graduation, he had to earn 4 points by the end of his sophomore year, 8 points by the end of his junior year, and 12 points by the end of his senior year. He was able to graduate as a certified James Scholar with a total of 13 points.

Year in LAS Honors	Honors points required	Fall semester	Spring semester	Total points earned
Year 1	4	2	2	4
Year 2	8	2	3	9
Year 3	12	4	0	13

You can log in to create and edit your "James Scholar Plan" for the current semester through the James Scholar Portfolio system online here: <https://my.atlas.illinois.edu/james-scholar/>

James Scholar Portfolio

The James Scholar Portfolio system allows you to submit a James Scholar Plan each semester. After logging in with your NetID and password, you can see your James Scholar Semester History, any Student Notes, and your previous semester James Scholar Plans. You can view old plans as well as edit your current plan.

IMPORTANT DEADLINES

By the end (Friday) of the sixth week of each fall and spring semester*:

1. Add your new James Scholar Plan, detailing how you will earn honors points this semester, and which honors points you will earn. If you will not earn any honors points that semester, you do not need to add anything to your plan.

*Summer deadlines is July 1 each year.

Term code	Academic points	Enrichment points
Spring 2023	3/3		Add a plan for Spring 2023
Fall 2022	2/2	1/1	Add a plan for Fall 2022

- 2. When you select an honors experience from the drop-down options, any preapproval materials necessary will be detailed for you before you add the experience to your plan. Please read these instructions carefully. All pre-approval materials need to be submitted by the sixth week deadline.

Example: Select research from the drop-down menu (right).

Academic points

James Scholars must earn both academic (A) and enrichment (E) points by graduation.

The number of points required is determined by the number of years in LAS Honors.

Points for Annual Certification to Maintain Status (may be any combination of A or E categories):	Points by Graduation for James Scholar Graduation Honors:
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ First year as LAS James Scholar: 4 pts ▪ Second year as LAS James Scholar: 8 pts ▪ Third year as LAS James Scholar: 12 pts ▪ Fourth year as LAS James Scholar: 16 pts 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ 4 years as LAS James Scholar = 10 (A) + 6 (E) ▪ 3 years as LAS James Scholar = 8 (A) + 4 (E) ▪ 2 years as LAS James Scholar = 5 (A) + 3 (E) ▪ 1 year as LAS James Scholar = 3 (A) + 1 (E)

Academic points develop critical thinking skills, broad intellectual curiosity, and deep understanding of a discipline or disciplines. Academic points are earned through challenging yourself in honors courses or honors credit learning agreements, deepening your understanding of your discipline through undergraduate research activities, and earning recognition of your academic accomplishments.

Academic points can be earned through approved:

- Honors courses
- Research experiences
- Academic accomplishments
- Study abroad
- Academic leadership

Listed on the following pages are the areas where academic points can be earned, as well as how many points each experience is worth, how many total points you can earn using that experience, and what documentation is required at the beginning and the end of the semester to earn points for that experience.

Preapproval: Experiences below that require preapproval must be submitted to the portfolio system online along with any additional forms, like an EHCLA or Honors Experience Request Form, by the specified date. This final date is the end of the sixth week of class for fall and spring semesters. Note that these experiences may still require documentation of completion be submitted by the end of the semester in order to receive honors points.

Denotes that this category is eligible to be used for a summer experience.

Honors courses are available either through taking an Honors Integrated Course or working on projects with faculty. Any course in which the student is currently enrolled can potentially be turned into an Honors Course with the agreement of the faculty member. This agreement is called an Electronic Honors Credit Learning Agreement (EHCLA) and outlines all requirements and expectations for the Honors project. The student must submit the EHCLA by the end of the sixth week of the semester. Instructor can approve the form after the six-week deadline.

Enrichment points

James Scholars must earn both academic (A) and enrichment (E) points by graduation.

The number of points required is determined by the number of years in LAS Honors.

Points for Annual Certification to Maintain Status (may be any combination of A or E categories):	Points by Graduation for James Scholar Graduation Honors:
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ First year as LAS James Scholar: 4 pts ▪ Second year as LAS James Scholar: 8 pts ▪ Third year as LAS James Scholar: 12 pts ▪ Fourth year as LAS James Scholar: 16 pts 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ 4 years as LAS James Scholar = 10 (A) + 6 (E) ▪ 3 years as LAS James Scholar = 8 (A) + 4 (E) ▪ 2 years as LAS James Scholar = 5 (A) + 3 (E) ▪ 1 year as LAS James Scholar = 3 (A) + 1 (E)

Enrichment points develop and strengthen citizenship skills through involvement on campus, in the Champaign-Urbana community, and in the global community. They also invite you to explore and develop skills for your future profession.

Enrichment points can be earned through approved:

- Volunteer service
- Leadership experiences
- Campus involvement
- Internships
- Study abroad
- Academic leadership

Listed on the following pages are the areas where enrichment points can be earned, as well as how many points each experience is worth, how many total points you can earn using that experience, and what documentation is required at the beginning and the end of the semester to earn points for that experience.

Preapproval: Experiences that require preapproval must be submitted to the portfolio system online along with any additional forms, like an Honors Experience Request Form, before the specified date. This final date is the end of the sixth week of class. Note that these experiences may still require documentation of completion to be submitted by the end of the semester in order to receive honors points.

Denotes that this category is eligible to be used for a summer experience.

Volunteer service opportunities in the local community are eligible for enrichment points. Just don't forget to submit the required documentation. Check out the Office of Civic Life website or the United Way of Champaign County. Look for an email early each semester with information about additional community service opportunities.

Electronic Honors Credit Learning Agreement (EHCLA)

The EHCLA is embedded in the James Scholar Portfolio system. When you enter your course number and section into your portfolio in the 2-credit hour honors course, 3+ credit hour honors course, or honors thesis categories the system will recognize whether the section is an integrated honors section or a standard section.

If the course is an integrated honors course, no additional information is required, and the course should simply be added to your plan:

It has been detected that this section is marked as an honors section, therefore no EHCLA is required.

Fall 2018 James Scholar options Sam chose in the beginning of the semester.

	Honors option	Point value	Plan details
[X]	3+ credit honors course with B- or better (Academic)	0/2	LAS 399 E - No EHCLA required

If the course is a standard course, the system will prompt you to “Describe your project”. This is where you will enter the details of the honors project you are adding to the class to make it eligible for an honors grade. You should include all relevant details of your project.

Subject Code LAS ▾	Course Number 399 ▾	Section Number A ▾	Describe your project <input type="text"/>	Add Course

Once you submit the description of your project, the instructor(s) of record for the course you have selected will be emailed, requesting they review and approve, approve with revisions, or deny your submission. Once your instructor approves your submission, it will come to LAS Honors staff for our review and approval. If your instructor approves your submission with revisions, you will receive an email asking you to review your instructor’s revisions and accept or deny their revisions. You will be notified via email of your instructor’s decision.

If an EHCLA is required for your honors experience, you must submit it by the end of the sixth week of the semester. Your accompanying instructor or faculty member may submit his or her portion after the deadline, but you must submit your portion before the required due date.

Honors Experience Request Form

Listed below are a series of example images to preview what you need to complete an Honors Experience Request Form.

Students enter basic information at the top of the form, include selecting their experience from the drop-down.

The screenshot shows the top portion of the Honors Experience Request Form. The header is a red bar with the text "Honors Experience Request Form" and the "I LIBERAL ARTS & SCIENCES" logo. Below the header, the browser address bar shows "Honors Experience Request Form / New Form". The main content area is titled "Student Information" and contains the following fields:

- Student NetId: A text input field.
- UIN: A text input field.
- Honors Experience: A dropdown menu with the following options: Alternative Seasonal Break, Community Service, Conference Presentation, and Internship.

Additional information is required depending on the experience selected.

Research/Independent Study:

The screenshot shows the "Research/Independent Study" section of the form. It includes the following text and fields:

- Research/Independent Study
- All fields are required.*
- At the end of the semester you must upload a signed letter from your research/independent study supervisor to your James Scholar Portfolio that verifies the number of hours you completed this term. The supervisor's name, title, and contact information must be clear. Alternatively, if you enrolled in research credit hours for this experience, completion of this experience can instead be verified through successful completion of the course (in this case no additional documentation need be provided at the end of your experience).
- Who will supervise your research/independent study? [Text input field]
- Please enter the name of the professor, staff member or graduate student who will supervise your work.
- Supervisor Email [Text input field]
- Please enter the email address for the professor, staff member or graduate student who will supervise your work.
- Enter the proposed number of hours you will spend conducting research/independent study. [Text input field]
- Provide a brief description of what your project will entail. [Text input field]

How will this internship experience further your academic or career goals? My duties for my environmental communications internship include writing a weekly environmental newsletter, answering employee's questions regarding the environment, and conduct a semi-annual educational presentation on-site in Chicago. My internship is part of the firm's ESG (environmental, social, and governance) initiative. For the environmental newsletter, I am completely responsible for doing the research and choosing what subjects to write about. For each month, I choose a certain theme for the emails, such as environmentalists in American history and deforestation. Although I come up with some themes on my own, I also take suggestions for themes from the company's employees if they express interest in learning more about a particular topic. By interacting with the company's employees and introducing environmental issues to them on a regular basis, I am able to encourage discussions about environmentalism in general at the firm, and I myself am able to understand where common misconceptions about environmental science may come from. Some of the questions I receive are in response to the weekly environmental newsletter; some employees want me to clarify something or to provide additional information on the subject of the newsletter. Other times, the recipients of the newsletter want to discuss a recent news event or ask for my opinion on sustainable products and living. Answering questions helps me find better ways to engage people in conversations about the health of our planet and how our behavior affects it. The internship requires two presentations a year: one in summer and one in winter. Similar to the environmental newsletter, I am free to choose whatever topic I want to discuss during my presentation. Each presentation takes several months of preparation to research and plan, and the target time for each presentation is 45 minutes of speaking followed by time for questions. The presentations occur at the company headquarters in Chicago, and members of other Chicago-based firms often attend as well. The presentations are delivered as "lunch and learns," where food is catered in, often from a vegan restaurant, during the speaking session. The presentation is meant to develop interns' public speaking skills and ability to put together material appropriate for a professional setting.

Provide a brief description of what your research will entail. Bottlebrush polymers are a new family of stimuli responsive polymers that respond to small external changes in their environment. They are usually capable of conformational changes, reversible solubility control, and reversible self-assembly into polymeric micelles. Synthetically, however, bottlebrush polymers are not trivial to access. The synthesis usually involves the implementation of two orthogonal polymerization techniques involving multiple purification steps. We will develop a new synthesis route to access this polymer topology more easily. Our technique will employ a combination of atom transfer radical polymerization (ATRP) and ring opening polymerization (ROP).

Psychology major preparing for graduate school.

Julia is a psychology major. After participating in the James Scholars Student Advisory Board her first-year and sophomore year, she became interested in leadership and started participating in the Illinois Leadership Center. She completed an all-day I-Program her sophomore year, and then participated in The Institute by LeaderShape her junior year, when she was also JSSAB secretary. She decided that she would feel regret if she didn't take the opportunity to study abroad, so she spent a semester in Barcelona, Spain. During her senior year, she was selected to serve on her sorority's recruitment board in addition to teaching LAS 122. She had banked enough points so that she could focus on applying to the University of Illinois School of Labor and Employment Relations before graduation. She ultimately decided on a career in Human Resources Management.

EXAMPLE:Global studies major entering a think tank in Washington, D.C.

Matt is a global studies major. His thematic focus is on environmental sustainability, and after volunteering with the Student Sustainability Farm, he knew he was on the right track. After submitting an EHCLA and completing his honors project, he had banked 5 points by the end of his first year. In Matt's second year, he continued to volunteer with the Student Sustainability Farm and decided to study abroad in Rome to learn more about food sustainability. He had taken a political science course before, but when he came back from Italy, he knew he wanted to add political science as a second major in LAS. He did an honors project for PS 280 his junior year and earned the points he needed to continue as a James Scholar. Matt was so excited when he started the Illinois in Washington Program, studying and interning in the United States capitol. This was a fantastic opportunity to prepare him to work at a think tank in Washington, D.C.

EXAMPLE:MCB major on a Pre-Med track.

Divya is a molecular & cellular biology major. She transferred from UIC after her freshman year and entered as a James Scholar. Because of this, she never took LAS 122. After completing the MCB study abroad program in Stockholm, Sweden, she forgot to submit an Honors Experience Request Form for her faculty-led research. Luckily, she was enrolled in an integrated honors course, and had banked enough points so that it didn't prevent her from being certified as a James Scholar. In her senior year, she was able to earn points by completing the MCAT to apply for medical schools, serve on the executive board for her professional Pre-Med fraternity and complete her senior thesis. She was only at Illinois for three years, so she is only required to earn 12 points for James Scholar Graduation Honors.

EXAMPLE:Classics major finding her way.

Vanessa ICT'd into LAS from another college of campus her fall semester freshman year. The 3 credit-hour honors course completed in the fall before ICTing into LAS was retroactively added to her fall semester portfolio by the honors team, helping her to earn her 4 points for her first year in the program. She was so excited when she was accepted to the Undergraduate Research Apprenticeship Program to assist a graduate mentor, and was able to use it as an honors experience in addition to deciding whether she enjoyed academic research for a possible career path. Vanessa had always enjoyed performing, so it made sense to use an official university-sponsored musical and her executive board position in Illini Student Musicals for honors points. With the completion of her philosophy major in addition to her classics major, she reached the number of academic and enrichment points necessary to graduate as a James Scholar.

Frequently asked questions (FAQ)

What's so special about being a James Scholar?

- Specialized faculty engagement through honors courses and research experiences
- Individualized education and control over your own honors path
- Interdisciplinary education through honors experiences that encourage you to think across traditional academic boundaries
- Undergraduate research is supported and encouraged, including presenting at conferences, and publishing your own work
- Co-curricular experiences through campus engagement, leadership, and community service
- Preparation for graduate and professional school
- James Scholars get priority course registration (you can register for classes within the first two days that registration is available for the following semester)

What does it mean to graduate as a James Scholar?

Graduating James Scholars are recognized with a medallion that they wear as part of their regalia at commencement. Graduating James Scholars and their families are also invited to attend an LAS Honors Ceremony to recognize their achievements before spring commencement. Read more about college distinctions for James Scholars here.

Beyond the graduation regalia, graduating as a James Scholar means you were invested in your education. You wanted to engage above and beyond in your academics and extracurricular opportunities available.

How many honors points do I need each semester?

You technically are not required to earn a certain number of honors points each semester, but you must earn at least 4 honors points each year in order to reach the specified number of points needed for certification at the end of each academic year.

How many honors points do I need each year?

Check out the detailed description of the points system on page 6.

Can I earn more than four honors points each year?

Yes, students can bank points, but not borrow. Students may bank more than four points in a year and that will decrease the number of points required of them in the following year.

Banking points allows the option to not submit any honors experiences in a future term. See page 7 for further information and examples.

What happens if I don't fulfill my requirements?

Students may or may not be allowed to petition for a probationary semester if they did not fulfill the specified requirements for LAS Honors. In order to be considered for a probationary semester, the student must have met at least one of the requirements for certification (either the required number of honors points, or the required GPA). If the student met the GPA requirement and half of the required points, he or she can petition. If the student achieved the required honors points, but earned between 3.10-3.29 Illinois cumulative GPA, he or she can petition. If the student only has 1 or less honors points for the year, and a GPA below 3.30 for the academic year, he or she is not eligible to petition for a probationary semester.

What if my major requires honors courses, but I've completed the 8 maximum points for 3+ credit hour courses?

If you have reached your limit of points required for our program, you are still allowed to enroll in honors courses using the (o) zero point honors course option. This option is located in the portfolio system, at the bottom of the drop down menu for honors options, and can be added to your portfolio during the first six weeks of any term.

What if I self-nominated?

If you self-nominated to be a James Scholar, you most likely won't be on campus for four years, which means your impending James Scholar Graduation Honors won't be 16 points, but instead either 8 or 12 points. Check out an example of a self-nominated student here.

What if I transferred?

If you transferred to the College of LAS as a James Scholar, then you only need to worry about earning the required number of points for the years you have left until graduation. Check out an example of a transferred student here.

Are summer experiences eligible for honors points?

Yes, with some exceptions. Please see page 7 and the academic and enrichment point category tables that begin on pages 13 and 21 respectively for further information.

How can I meet other James Scholars?

Get on the James Scholar Student Advisory Board (JSSAB) mailing list to find out about activities and events with other James Scholars. Contact JSSAB at lasjssab@gmail.com.

How do I get to the online James Scholar Portfolio?

The James Scholar Portfolio system is linked here, and is also included in any LAS Honors emails reminding you of your requirements at the beginning and the end of each semester.
